Education Session No. 214:
U.S. FERC Commissioner Philip Moeller: Perspectives on the Energy Industry

August 3, 2010 at 6 PM
San Francisco CA

The energy industry is facing unprecedented changes in public sentiment and in applications and sources of energy. Join us as Commissioner Philip D. Moeller of the United States Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC") shares his views on the challenges and opportunities facing the U.S. energy industry in 2010 and beyond. Commissioner Moeller will discuss current energy trends and regulatory issues of interest to hedge fund managers and investors, including:

- FERC's current priorities;
- Federal renewable energy and climate change efforts; and
- U.S. and international energy markets.

Participant

Philip D. Moeller, United States Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC)

Biography

Philip D. Moeller, Commissioner, United States Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC)
Commissioner Moeller has been confirmed to a second term as a member of FERC. He joined the Commission in July 2006, and his new term expires in 2015. Commissioner Moeller's energy policy experience is broad: he served as an energy policy advisor to U.S. Senator Slade Gorton (R-Washington) where he worked on electricity policy, electric system reliability, hydropower, energy efficiency, nuclear waste, energy and water appropriations and other energy legislation. He also was Staff Coordinator for the Washington State Senate Committee on Energy, Utilities and Telecommunications, where he was responsible for a wide range of policy areas that included energy, telecommunications, conservation, water, and nuclear waste. Prior to his term at FERC, Commissioner Moeller headed the Washington, D.C., office of Alliant Energy Corporation, and also worked in the Washington office of Calpine Corporation.
