Dinner with Roxanne Martino

February 15, 2011 at 6 PM
Los Angeles CA

The seasoned practitioners of Los Angeles welcome Roxanne Martino, President and CEO of Aurora Investment Management L.L.C. Join colleagues for an intimate dinner and discussion with Roxanne at Zucca Restaurant about the state of the hedge fund industry and what it takes to manage the premier $10B fund of hedge funds firm.

Prior to joining Aurora in 1990, Roxanne was an auditor with Coopers & Lybrand and a general partner with Grosvenor, an alternative investment firm. Roxanne received her BBA from The University of Notre Dame in 1977 and an MBA from the University of Chicago in 1988. Roxanne is a member of The Economic Club of Chicago, current chairperson of the Business Advisory Council of the Mendoza College of Business of The University of Notre Dame and has served as a Director of The Analysts Society of Chicago. She is a Director of The Thresholds, a not-for-profit psychiatric rehabilitation organization, serves on the Investment Subcommittee of the Board of Directors of Catholic Relief Services, the international relief and development agency, as well as on the board of the Children's Memorial Hospital of Chicago and the Arthur Foundation. Roxanne has appeared on CNBC and CNNfn and is also a contributing author of a chapter titled "The Due Diligence Process" in the book, Hedge Fund Strategies, Third Edition and was recently included in the Worth Leading Wealth & Legal Advisors December 2010/January 2011 issue of Worth magazine.

Biography

Roxanne Martino, President and CEO, Aurora Investment Management L.L.C.

Consistently good in science and math, Roxanne Martino whizzed through Guerin High School, graduating in three years and starting college at 16. Martino found her niche in accounting originally switching to investment management after 7 years in auditing where she focused on a relatively new industry, hedge funds.

Now President and CEO of Aurora Investment Management L.L.C., a $10 Billion investment firm, Martino uses all of her skills in managing its capital.

Prior to joining Aurora in 1990, Roxanne was an auditor with Coopers & Lybrand and a general partner with Grosvenor, an alternative investment firm. Roxanne received her BBA from The University of Notre Dame in 1977 and an MBA from the University of Chicago in 1988.
