About The Child Bereavement Charity

The Child Bereavement Charity is the UK's leading charity that supports families and educates professionals both when a child dies and when a child is bereaved. Every year the charity trains around 5000 professionals across health care, social care, education, the emergency services and the voluntary sector. It also provides a national support and information service, award-winning resources, an interactive website with online forums, and Buckinghamshire-based family bereavement support. Prince William became Royal Patron of the charity in 2009. www.childbereavement.org.uk.

In honour of the Royal Wedding, 100WHF invites its members to make a donation to the Child Bereavement Charity by going to <http://www.childbereavement.org.uk/100WHF>
