

Find your "Board Match": Non-profit Board Training

February 11, 2015 at 5:30 PM
San Francisco, CA

Do you want to give back in a more meaningful way? Have you considered putting your time and talent towards a worthy cause?

There are hundreds of non-profits around the Bay Area actively looking for Board Members and on February 11th, The Volunteer Center will help us understand the roles Board members play at non-profits. Learn how to highlight your talents for these board placements and discover what questions you can ask to find the right board where you can make the biggest impact. Please note the cost of attending the training session will be $26.25 ($25 for the program and 5% transaction fee via PayPal).

This precedes "The Board Match" on March 4th, which is an evening of networking with hundreds of non-profits looking for Board members. An invitation for the March 4th event will be sent separately.

Biographies

Jill Blackburn, Director of Programs, The Volunteer Center

Jill Blackburn has worked in the field of cross-sector capacity building for the past 14 years. She currently serves as the Director of Programs of The Volunteer Center, leading the day-to-day operations of their Consulting and Training Practice for nonprofits and businesses that are seeking to grow their capacity to work with and deploy volunteers. In addition, she designs their standardized and customized trainings, leads her team in consulting contract efforts for nonprofits and businesses on nonprofit board matching and board building, and also leads the Bay Area Corporate Volunteer Council.

John Power, Executive Director, The Volunteer Center

John Power was appointed Executive Director of The Volunteer Center in 2002, following three years in which he held roles of increasing responsibility as Corporate Services Director, Managing Director of Programs and Deputy Director. Prior to that, John built a distinguished reputation in the public service and political arenas. He was Deputy District Director for San Jose Congresswoman Zoe Lofgren from 1995-98, and served as her legislative aide when she was county supervisor. During his tenure with Lofgren, John provided his expertise in health and human services, immigration, environmental issues and civil justice policies. John received his bachelor's degree from the University of California at Berkeley, and in 1989 earned his MBA from Santa Clara University.
