Biography

Bart Chilton, Former Commissioner, US Commodity Futures Trading Commission

With a career spanning 30 years in government service, Commissioner Bart Chilton most recently served as a commissioner of the US Commodity Futures Trading Commission. He is highly experienced in issues including financial services, agriculture, energy and the environment. He's a frequently quoted opinion leader on financial matters, and he appears regularly on business television and on editorial pages.

He came to the CFTC in 2007 following his nomination by President George W. Bush and confirmation by the US Senate. In 2009, he was re-nominated by President Barack Obama and reconfirmed by the Senate. He has served as the chairman of the CFTC's Energy and Environmental Markets Advisory Committee (EEMAC) and the Global Markets Advisory Committee (GMAC). Commissioner Chilton has the rare government trifecta of working in the House of Representatives, the Senate and in the Executive Branch (during the Clinton, Bush and Obama Administrations).

From 1985 to 1995, Commissioner Chilton worked in the US House of Representatives, serving as legislative director for three different members of Congress and as the executive director of the bipartisan Congressional Rural Caucus. From 1995 to 2001, Commissioner Chilton was a Schedule C political appointee of President Bill Clinton, rising to Deputy Chief of Staff to US Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman. In this role, Commissioner Chilton became a member of the Senior Executive Service (SES) - government executives selected for their leadership qualifications to serve in the key positions just below the most senior Presidential appointees.

From 2001 to 2005, Commissioner Chilton was a Senior Advisor to Senator Tom Daschle, the Democrat leader of the US Senate working on myriad issues including agriculture and transportation policy. In 2005-06, he was a Schedule C political appointee of President Bush at the US Farm Credit Administration, where he was Senior Assistant to the board. In 2006-07, prior to being confirmed as Commissioner, he was the Chief of Staff and Vice President for Government Relations at the National Farmers Union, where he represented family farmers. He previously served on the boards of directors of Bion Environmental Technologies and the Association of Family Farms.
