Education Session No. 659:
Broad Influence: How Women Are Changing the Way America Works - A Discussion with TIME correspondent, Jay Newton-Small

September 12, 2016 at 6:30 PM
Washington, DC

Described as offering "a powerful demonstration of how the presence of a critical mass of women changes, and improves, a workplace" (Ruth Marcus, Washington Post) and as an "important and timely book" that "helps Americans understand why the rise of women is not simply a matter of equality but an economic imperative for the United States" (Dana Milbank, Washington Post), Broad Influence poignantly makes the case for attaining a balance of women and men in the work force - and in C-suites, board rooms, law and the government.

We will have a lively discussion with Jay Newton-Small, Washington correspondent for TIME. Newton-Small will share the findings from her 2016 book, Broad Influence: How Women Are Changing the Way America Works. A Q&A follows the discussion, and afterwards you can continue the conversation and network over light refreshments.
